REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE:

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Claims 1-44 are allowed over the prior art of record because the art of record fails to disclose or fairly suggest a method for modifying code to be compatible with the client runtime library comprising at least the following steps among other steps: determining relationships between the tokens, translating the code based upon the relationships to enable the code to be compatible with client runtime library, and translating the code containing a link to remote server to a link to a proxy server to enable the proxy to monitor and mediate transactions between the client and the remote server.

Thomas, a prior art of record, teaches translating codes for executing on the client device, but fails to teach modifying links in the web content to redirect client request to the proxy server such that the proxy server monitors and mediates transactions between the client and remote server.

Delph and the newly cited art, Still et al, both teach modifying links in web content to redirect client requests to the proxy server, but fail to teach translating the code based on the determined token relationships such that the modified code is compatible with client runtime library.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
